Overview

With financing from the Joint SDG Fund, the Resident Coordinator's Office in Djibouti and national partners are supporting a new solar energy programme that lights a path to more mini grids, knowledge exchanges and economic growth, ensuring a brighter future for all. Caption: In just one year, Djibouti has gone from having almost no solar installations and limited technical capacity to hosting several solar companies, trained national engineers and even a facility assembling the first made-in-Djibouti solar panels. Celebrated on 26 January, International Day of. Working hand in hand with the Ministry of Energy, the United Nations is supporting Djibouti in transforming abundant sunlight into affordable, reliable, and clean energy for all. The National Development Plan prioritizes investment in solar energy infrastructure, with specific interventions aimed at promoting solar self-consumption for residential, solar photovoltaic (PV) energy. To reduce costs and improve access, Djibouti's government created the National Energy Strategy, which aims for 100% renewable electricity production by 2035. This will be done in the framework of a public-private partnership (PPP). Amea Power continues i across its territory.
