

Do solar photovoltaic panels need to have holes drilled

Overview

Most modern solar panels feature pre-drilled holes in their aluminum frames. Different mounting systems exist, including roof-mounted, ground-mounted. Let's face it - most solar installers would rather talk about energy output than hole sizes. But here's the kicker: 38% of warranty claims stem from improper mounting hardware installation. The presence of these holes allows installers to easily position the panels. These holes play a critical role in securing solar panels to mounting systems, ensuring durability and alignment for optimal energy capture. This design guarantees secure, efficient attachment to various racking systems without compromising structural integrity.
