What are the differences between "crack", "slit", "crevice", "split"

For the most part, the words are interchangeable. Distinguishing between multiple examples of such things can be aided by their individual connotations: crack a line on the surface of something along

"Split in" vs "split into"

In the sentence I have a bibliography page which I'd like to split in/into sections which would you rather use: split in or split into? Why?

What's a phrase for a compromise in which both sides are unhappy?

In those situations, the court's orders force the parties to reveal information-how much discovery was really needed and what the parties were willing to settle for-that the court couldn't

"The splits" vs "a split"

The problem with this is that unlike the runs or scissors or the heebie-jeebies or any other example I can think of, The Splits has multiple forms of use that necessitate a singular form. No one

"Split in half" vs. "split in two" - which one is correct?

Does the "in" imply multiplication, in which case split in half is correct, or is it division? It sounds like the latter to me, but I've heard it used both ways.
